

IIC Annual Meet

Representing Thiagarajar College, Dr. K. Thirupathy, Dean – Innovation, Entrepreneurship & Patent, delivered an insightful Power Point presentation on “IIC Mentor and School Linkages.” His session highlighted the significance of establishing structured mentor–mentee relationships within the IIC ecosystem and emphasized the role of higher education institutions in nurturing innovation among school students. The presentation received appreciation for its clarity, practical framework, and alignment with national-level innovation objectives. Faculty members Dr. S. Padmavathy, Associate Professor of Micro-Biology, and Dr. S. Yogachitra, Assistant Professor of Bio-Technology, also attended the event and successfully completed the Training of Trainers (ToT) session conducted as part of the meet. Their participation added value to the institution’s capacity-building efforts in innovation and entrepreneurship.

Students from the Departments of Bio-Technology and Micro-Biology showcased their innovative works during the meet. Kalirajan J.S. and Shri Santhosh, both III UG students of Bio-Technology, demonstrated their bio-plastic innovation, which drew attention for its environmental relevance and practical applicability. From the Micro-Biology Department, PG students Shamini, Nishanthini, Srimathi Nandhika, Rathisa, Bavithra, and Seenivasan presented a well-structured pitch deck that covered problem identification, solution design, prototype concept, and impact potential. Their confident delivery and clarity of presentation were appreciated by attendees and evaluators.

Overall, the participation of both faculty and students from Thiagarajar College contributed significantly to the event’s success and enhanced the institution’s visibility within the IIC community. The meet provided valuable exposure, strengthened the innovation ecosystem of the college, and motivated the participants to pursue interdisciplinary innovation with greater enthusiasm and confidence.
