4. Venue & Date: Diamond Jubilee & 16.09.25
5. Title: National Voluntary Blood Donation Day
6. Objective of the Programme:
 - To raise awareness about the need for regular, voluntary, and unpaid blood donation
 - To promote voluntary blood donation as a humanitarian act
 - To ensure a sufficient and safe blood supply
 - To recognize and honor regular voluntary blood donors
 - To involve youth and educational institutions in blood donation drives
 - To strengthen blood donation infrastructure and services
 - To support national health priorities
7. Benefits of the Programme:

Celebrating National Voluntary Blood Donation Day brings numerous benefits to individuals and society. It plays a vital role in spreading awareness about the importance of regular, voluntary blood donation and helps dispel common myths and fears associated with the process. By encouraging more people to donate blood willingly, the celebration helps build a stable and sufficient blood supply in hospitals and blood banks, ensuring timely support for patients in need, especially during emergencies, surgeries, and chronic illnesses. It also fosters a sense of social responsibility and unity, as communities, educational institutions, and organizations come together to support a common cause. The day also serves as an opportunity to honor and motivate regular donors, recognize the efforts of healthcare workers and volunteers, and inspire first-time donors to join the movement. Overall, the celebration strengthens public health systems, promotes a culture of compassion and altruism, and ensures that safe blood is always available for those who need it most.

Write-up:

The Red Ribbon Club of Thiagarajar College, Madurai, organized an enlightening guest lecture in observance of National Voluntary Blood Donation Day on Tuesday, October 7th, 2025, from 2:00 PM to 3:00 PM at the Diamond Jubilee Hall. The event aimed to raise awareness about the importance of voluntary blood donation and to encourage students to actively participate in life-saving social initiatives.

The programme commenced with a welcome address delivered by the organizing committee, followed by an introduction of the distinguished resource person, Major Dr. N. Arun Nagendran, IQAC Director. His lecture focused on the theme of selfless service and the vital role of voluntary blood donors in ensuring the availability of safe blood for patients in need. He elaborated on the physiological benefits of donating blood, the safety measures followed during the process, and dispelled common myths associated with blood donation.

Dr. Sukumar SF director, appreciated the Red Ribbon Club for its continuous efforts in promoting health awareness among students. Dr. K. Sathiyadash, Dean (SW & CCA), emphasized that voluntary blood donation reflects a sense of social responsibility and compassion—values that every student should uphold.

The event was coordinated efficiently by the Part-V Officers and Event In-Charges, Dr. P. Anbarasi and Dr. C. M. Archana, who encouraged active student engagement. The session concluded with a vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the guest speaker and attendees. Overall, the programme successfully motivated students to become responsible donors and advocates for a healthier society.
